library. A number of books have been landed in and many more promised. How many have you got to give?

PADGETTE'S PARK.

The Concert of the Hungarian Gypsy Students.

An unusually large and appreciative audience greeted the Hungarian Gypsy student orchestra last evening. It was announced in yesterday's EXAMINER that last night's concert was to be the last appearance in Waco of this orchestra and this had no small effect in bringing out such a number.

Mrs. Homestead, in the class was present, and the young ladies seemed to enjoy this music almost in no small degree. All were loud in praise of the excellence of the music and the pleasant evening they had spent. It is impossible to say too much in praise of the Hungarians; they came here strangers, but they left an impression that will soon pass away, and while leaving this, which is no more than justice, THE EXAMINER cannot avoid reference to the vile slander leveled upon the Dutchmen by the same paper. Such terms and expressions are uncalled for. They are utterly un-American, un-American, and the conservative is ashamed of the outrage. These musicians can be represented as an excellent lot. They are gentlemen and are entitled to the respect of the community. There is a movement on foot to retain these musicians longer and THE EXAMINER hopes they may be induced to remain another week.

A Merited Testimonial.

From the latest issue of the Star.

The following was offered and adopted May 21st:

Since it is probable that one of the teachers of our school, Miss D. A. Blodson sever her connection with us in consequence of her desire to enter another department of school work; be it resolved by the citizens of Gatesville and the patrons of the Central Texas Institute, that we deeply regret the necessity that takes us from one of the leading spirits and brightest ornaments of our social life. And recognizing her unselfish devotion to duty, and wise and tender care of the little ones committed to her charge, we hereby tender her a rising vote of thanks, and assure her that as she goes hence, she will bear with her the regards and solicitude of all.

Signed,

W. E. Brown, V.
